THE ISLANDS

Falkland Islands mail is known from the early part of the 19th century and postage stamps were first issued in 1878. From the very first issue through to the present day the stamps have been internationally recognised for their design and production qualities. Postal history has also played a growing part of the Islands philately. The Falklands provide an area of absorbing interest to the postal historian, particularly through the carriage of mail, initially by shipping companies under mail contracts and latterly by air. The conflict with Argentina in 1982 opened a new element of postal history. The exploration of Antarctica where mail, ships and personnel relating to these activities have passed through the Falklands also offers further absorbing areas of interest to collectors.

THE STUDY GROUP

The Falkland Islands Philatelic Study Group was formed in 1970 to start to bring together members worldwide who collected Falkland Islands and their Dependencies mail and ephemera. Membership has grown from 50 in 1970 to over 500 in 2007 and is truly international in its structure.

The objectives of the Study Group are to:-

1. Foster Falkland Islands philately.
2. Carry out research into all aspects of philately connected with the Falkland Islands and their former dependencies, leading to the publication of findings.
3. Bring together and keep members updated on information about the group and Falklands' philately, through published materials and meetings.
4. Offer members competitively priced specialised Study Group publications books and printed material.
5. Provide an auction service to members worldwide and packet to UK members.
